The Declaration of Independence

History and Clues

The Declaration of Independence is one of the most important documents in American history. Written by Thomas Jefferson, it was adopted by the Continental Congress on July 4, 1776. This document announced that the thirteen American colonies were no longer under British rule and were now free and independent states. The Declaration of Independence marked the beginning of a new nation dedicated to the principles of liberty and equality.

The colonies decided to seek independence because they wanted to escape the tyranny of British rule. The British government had imposed unfair taxes and laws on the colonies without giving them any representation in Parliament. The colonists believed that this violated their natural rights. They wanted the freedom to govern themselves and make their own laws.

In the Declaration of Independence, Jefferson wrote about the rights that all people should have, including life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. He argued that governments are created to protect these rights, and if a government fails to do so, the people have the right to form a new one. This idea was revolutionary and inspired many people around the world to fight for their own freedom and equality.

The Declaration of Independence not only signaled the start of the American Revolution but also laid the foundation for the values that the United States would stand for. It remains a powerful symbol of the country's commitment to liberty, justice, and the belief that all people are created equal.

Founding Fathers

History and Clues

The Founding Fathers were a group of important leaders who helped create the United States of America. Some of the most famous Founding Fathers include George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Alexander Hamilton, and James Madison.

These leaders played a big role in writing the Constitution, which is the set of rules that tells how our country should be run. They believed in Independence and wanted America to be free from British rule, which led to the American Revolution.

George Washington was the leader of the American army during the Revolution and became the first President. Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, a document that explained why America should be free. Benjamin Franklin was a wise and clever inventor who helped convince other countries to support America.

John Adams was a strong voice for Independence and later became the second President. Alexander Hamilton was the first Secretary of the Treasury and helped set up our financial system. James Madison is known as the "Father of the Constitution" because he had a big role in writing it.

The Founding Fathers met in Philadelphia to discuss and create the Constitution. They wanted to make sure that Liberty and justice were part of the new nation they were building. Thanks to their hard work and ideas, we have the United States of America today.
